As September unfolds, we find ourselves celebrating a day that holds immense significance for many of our cherished clients: Grandparent's Day. At CPC, we are privileged to serve a diverse and dynamic group of individuals, many of whom are proud grandparents themselves. We take this opportunity to honor the generations that have shaped our families and communities and to express our deep appreciation for the role they play in our lives.

In this special edition of our newsletter, we want to shine a light on the heartwarming connections we share with our senior clients and the joy they bring to our organization. Join us as we reflect on the invaluable contributions of grandparents, both within and beyond our CPC family.

Stay tuned for heartwarming stories, special events, and more as we commemorate Grandparent's Day at CPC. We are immensely grateful for the trust and support of our senior clients, and we look forward to continuing to provide them with the outstanding services they deserve.

Patricia's Journey with CPC

Patricia F., a retired Personnel Manager from Solvang, has dedicated 25 years to volunteering at the Santa Ynez Cottage Hospital Auxiliary's New to You Thrift Shop. Unable to drive anymore, she continues to contribute remotely. Patricia says aging can be difficult, but it's not so bad if "You make the best of it and look for the good in life."

Now a Community Partners in Caring client, Patricia relies on CPC for transportation to visit her son in a memory care facility and attend medical appointments. With only one family member available to help with transportation, CPC offers her peace of mind and the freedom to live independently. Patricia expresses

Welcome Midge!

*Midge joined the CPC family as our Outreach Coordinator. She just moved back to the central coast after running a non-profit for 15 years that served seniors in the High Desert in San Bernadino County. Midge is an avid dog lover, and behaviorist and has been active in rescue for 30 years. She loves to illustrate and founded a barcode systems integration company in 1994, serving manufacturers and distribution with automated data collection. We are so happy to have you on board Midge!
